

Earth Energies SIG

Visit to Cam Peak Saturday 16th May 2026

Interim Findings

Introduction

This was the first outing of the newly formed Earth Energies Special Interest Group, and 14 of us met up despite it being overcast, windy and with rain threatening. We split into two groups, with the first group heading for the summit, whilst the second group made for an area at the bottom of the hill adjacent to the road and along from the car park. After about 45 minutes or so the groups swapped locations. Unfortunately, the rain started in earnest towards the end and somewhat curtailed the activity. Nevertheless, despite the weather a lot of information was gleaned about the site which is summarised below.

Findings

These are based on individual reports from members of the group received so far, including those of the author.

At the Summit

1. A dragon line passing through the vortex at the top.
2. A node with energy lines radiating out North, South, East and West, Northwest, Northeast, Southwest and Southeast.
3. A line originally connected to Cam Long Down but disconnected. Later found to be connected – due to our presence/intention?
4. Ascending energy coming into node – from Sirius
5. Two energy spots either side of metal structure, both anticlockwise. Felt through the heart chakra, coloured green and both feminine.
6. Node just behind metal structure in SE direction with energy lines radiating out as above. Spring detected below node.
7. A North – South energy line detected, and a counterclockwise spiral on the Northwest side of the structure.
8. Just below summit, a healing spot, connected to Sirius.

On ascending path to summit on east side

1. Two energy lines crossing path horizontally. First line was very warm energy with warmth felt in feet and legs. This was confirmed by several other people.
2. Energy source located, possibly a portal.

Area adjacent to road along from carpark

1. Evidence of a round house circa 2000BC.
2. Evidence of a labyrinth circa 7000BC
3. Evidence of a Shaman's hut – Shaman possibly of Middle Eastern origin.
Validated by more than one person.
4. Evidence of a 3 ring and a 5 ring labyrinth, the latter in the same place as a barrow. Entrances to labyrinths facing away from the road.
5. Energy line running through barrow parallel to road.
6. Evidence of a labyrinth a few yards from metal cover of a drain.
7. Two circular features with more northerly one having entrance on northern side.
8. Three energy lines radiating from summit at approx. 320,314 and 124 degrees.
9. Evidence of two labyrinths circa 7000BC
10. Evidence of long barrow circa 7000BC
11. Energy line from summit passing through centre of one of labyrinths.
12. Area of hawthorn and holly tree, elementals present?.
13. Area of hawthorn and holly tree energy spiral detected.

General Comments

One or two people dowsed on the "health" of the site and picked up that there was trauma deriving from the ice age. More of this in the postscript.

There was also another feedback which I feel I should present in full. "Whenever I go to sacred sites, I always try to contact any spirits of ancient priests or priestesses connected with the site. My impression is that at such sites there is usually one soul who has chosen to 'remain behind' to look after the site. I use my pendulum to ask if such a spirit is present, and I got a yes for Cam Peak, and by the usual yes/no process divined that she is female, and there is a great presence of love at the site. Also, that it is partly human made. When I asked if it was a solar 'temple' surprisingly I got the answer 'no' and was told that it was more about the Underworld. I have since reflected on this. Pagan cultures saw the sun as retreating, going within the earth, and reborn at Yule. The tradition is fire to the hill at Yule, when the sun begins the journey back out from the Underworld. While I was sitting, communing, I felt that I was joined by a loving female presence who sat down beside me. I glimpsed her legs and feet, her calves clad in furs, moccasin-type shoes on her feet, attached to her legs with thongs that wrapped around her calves - just that. I felt uplifted and very warmed by the experience".

Conclusions

A surprising amount of information of a huge variety was gleaned about the site in a relative short space of time considering the state of the weather. It is also pleasing that much of the information was corroborated by more than one person. I was also pleased to note that one of our members recorded the location at which they made their findings by using what3words. This is important if we wish to return to a site, but also for the benefit of others who may wish to do so. Therefore, in future this is a practice we should adopt whenever possible, either using what3words or an Ordnance Survey GPS tracker. Also interestingly, no one commented on where any of the energy lines might have originated from, and where they might be connecting. Thus, I feel that there are many questions still to be answered and feel sure there is much more information to be uncovered. Which makes a return visit later in the year even more appealing

Postscript

In the Cam Peak information document there was a reference to a quote by a local Farmer that Cam Long Down was the Ying to Cam Peak's Yang. This information turns out to be incorrect as both Cam Long Down and Cam Peak are Ying, as some of you correctly discovered. This would make sense as the two of them were originally connected. It may also explain the narrative that they suffered trauma due to the ice age if this contributed to them becoming separated. It would appear that Downham Hill is in fact the Yang to Cam Peak's Ying. Again, there is a narrative that with all the suffering of the smallpox patients on Downham Hill this adversely affected the harmonious balance of energy between the two. This also would help to explain why remote dowsing the site prior to our visit showed there was an imbalance of energy. Both these narratives need further corroboration.

It was interesting to note in two separate feedback, reference to the star Sirius. I have since remotely dowsed Cam Peak using a Bovis Life Force Bioenergy Units Dowsing chart. Interestingly measuring the energy before our visit and afterwards, the energy went from 8K units (Person in Fair health) to 29K units (Star Sirius!). Therefore, a narrative might be that our presence and intention did change the energy of the site. Again, this needs corroboration. To this end and as a further tool in your dowsing kit I attach the Bovis Life Force chart to this report.

Also, since our visit, quite by chance I came across two articles relevant to the Cam Peak site in one of the Gloucestershire Earth Mysteries magazine. I also attach them to this report under "A Symbolic Landscape" and "Nwyvre Path to the Sun"
